Online Resources: Telling Your Story

Elizabeth Parham, IT Technician
January 2019 QTIP Learning Collaborative
January 20, 2019
We want you to tell us your story!

“Stories have power. They delight, enchant, touch, teach, recall, inspire, motivate, challenge. They help us understand. They imprint a picture on our minds. Want to make a point or raise an issue? Tell a story.”

-Janet Litherland (author)
You will find this handout included in your manual, and it contains all of the links you will need on one reference sheet. Please see me if you do not have one, or if you would like extra copies.
Deadline for MOC Part 4 credit for 2018 fast approaching
Mon, 2018-11-19 20:51 — frushton
Can’t guarantee any attestation forms submitted after December 1st will be accepted by ABP

MUSC has interesting success with social connectiveness
Thu, 2018-11-13 12:48 — frushton
Great success at MUSC with social connectedness question with statistical significance using run chart rules. Also with video exposure in the 3 to 6 year olds. Having difficulty with fluoride varnish stocking.

Impressive gains in SC with under 5 hospitalizations for asthma and HPV vaccination rates
Thu, 2018-11-15 10:49 — frushton
At a recent pediatric advisory committee meeting at DHEC, we were told there has been a 50 percent drop in under 5 hospitalizations for asthma over the past 5 years. Plus, HPV vaccinations have increased between 2016 and 2017 in SC the 3rd fastest in the country. Kudos to all who have worked on these issues both inside and outside QTIP.
You are making a difference!
Dr. K

Coastal Impressive
Thu, 2018-11-13 10:47 — frushton
Great results on teen measures. Using Athena recall to get kids back in for their HPV. Foster care issues are a frustration for Coastal. QTIP may consider a focus on foster care as part of our mainstream efforts. New CEO at Coastal initiating KPIs... key performance indicators. With heavy emphasis practice wide on quality. Coastal keeps a quality payment dashboard: keeps track all the incentives that comes in for QI activity. Meaningful use money, PCMH, BCBS, MCO Incentive dollars, shared savings
I will set up your user account for the blog based on the information you provide Laura for QIDA sign-up, and I will send you your username and default password via email, so be on the lookout!
Once you’ve received your username and password via email, navigate to the QTIP blog (https://msp.scdhhs.gov/chipraqtip). You will see the login screen below:

Enter your username and password in the required fields. Note that once you have successfully logged in for the first time that you may change your password from the default to a value that only you know.
You have done it. Now that you are logged in, you should see the homepage for the blog. The layout is a typical blog interface, with the most recently posted entries at the top, along with their comments:
To start a new blog post, navigate to the menu on the left sidebar and select Create content > Blog entry.
From there, fill in the Title and Body fields with the content you wish to post. Select Save when you have finished, and you are done!
Psychiatric Consultation Still Available

Tue, 2015-07-14 08:27 — Kristine Hobbs

Hello to All,
Just a reminder that Dr. Khetpal, Child Psychiatrist, is still available to our QTIP practices (See below for details). She asked that I share this article with you: "How to write a suicide risk assessment that's clinically sound and legally defensible."
Dr. Khetpal cannot provide any direct services, as that is not within the scope of our grant. However, she can consult on vignettes you may want to field with a child psychiatrist to determine the next step of treatment. To contact Dr. Khetpal directly, you can text her directly at 803-622-8742. She said you can leave a simple text with no clinical information such as "QTIP physician would like to consult, please contact me at..." would be sufficient and she will call you back at her earliest convenience. She can also be reached via email at anitakhetpal@yahoo.com...but has said texting her will be faster.
QTIP Blog, PDSA Reporting Tool and QI Meeting Reporting Tool:
https://msp.scdhhs.gov/chipraqtip
You will also receive weekly blog summary emails from me! I will share with you the newest postings conveniently in your inbox if you haven’t had time to navigate to the blog in a few days.
Training 2

QTIP Site:
https://msp.scdhhs.gov/qtip
The QTIP Site: https://msp.scdhhs.gov/qtip
QTIP Site Demo:
https://msp.scdhhs.gov/qtip
• Any questions?
Please don’t hesitate to contact me with any questions or technical support issues you have:

• Email: parham@scdhhs.gov
• Office: (803) 898-3727
A final thought...

We all have a story to tell

...so get blogging!